

Exhibit 2: Photographs

This view up Stevens Creek watershed from the south demonstrates the central location of Stevens Canyon Ranch with respect to public open space. The main house/winery is below and right of center. Two of the grassy knolls on the property can be seen above and to the left of the house. Monte Bello Open Space Preserve occupies the ridge in the background, and Stevens Creek County Park is on the chaparral-covered ridge to the right of Stevens Creek. Saratoga Gap Open Space Preserve is located on the lower left.

South of the historic winery, this ranch road leads through the orchard before it crosses a redwood-shaded tributary and then continues its way to a vista point on the eastern boundary.

Exhibit 2: Photographs

The Bordi family built the original stone winery with its upper residence during the 1880s. It still stands as the central building on the property.

The winery doors, with their faded painting of two dancing ladies, open onto a cool, dark interior where wine casks were once stacked to the ceiling. Some are still there.

Exhibit 2: Photographs

The attractive family picnic area has several tables next to the creek, as well as a water system, outdoor fireplace, and a restroom.

In the spring, wildflowers carpet the meadows on Stevens Canyon Ranch. These grassy knolls offer excellent vistas of the surrounding Santa Cruz Mountains.

Exhibit 2: Photographs

Redwood groves offer cool resting stops along many roads and trails.

The old ranch roads are still in good condition. They make pleasant hiking trails.

Exhibit 2: Photographs

This spot, just below the junction of two tributaries, shows the large boulders and deep pools that make this an inviting place to rest or picnic.

This view, taken from the slopes above the main house, looks across Stevens Creek Canyon to Lower Stevens Creek County Park and Monte Bello Open Space Preserve. The planned Stevens Creek Trail would traverse these slopes. A connecting trail from the property would provide access to this regional trail.